What Oil Husbandry Means to You

THE price of gasoline is high when compared to the price asked five years ago, but the price would be much higher if it were not for the long list of useful products made from that portion of the crude which is left after the gasoline and refined oils have been removed.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) makes a wide range of products from this residue—each product rendering a definite, useful service to mankind, and each bearing its share of the cost of production, thereby helping to keep down the price you pay for gasoline.

The petroleum chemists in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) constantly are at work trying to develop new processes which will enable the Company to utilize every fraction of the crude oil, thus eliminating waste.

This means husbanding the country's resources by taking from the crude oil the maximum number of useful products, and recovering a maximum yield of each.

To do this is the constant aim of the Company.

WHAT matter if the rug is littered, so long as little daughter is learning to be useful and industrious? The Royal will pick up all the scraps, threads and lint in a jiffy and leave the rug clean and bright as ever.

Its powerful, cleansing air stream also gets all the dirt that feet, large and small, have ground deep down into the rug.

The Royal cleans and purifies through and through. Rug-wearing, mother-tiring, health-menacing dirt cannot stay in the same house with the Royal.

JOHNSON STOCK IS GOING UP

Irreconcilable opponents of the peace treaty may get out of the successful Johnson campaign in Michigan, there is much that is disquieting in it to the regular conservative organization of the republican party. For Hiram Johnson is a radical. He fought alongside of Senator LaFollette, who by the way beats up successfully in Wisconsin's primaries against the two men assailed the rich and insisted that they bear the burdens of taxation. Hiram Johnson is much more sound in his views than William Jennings Bryan but as a campaigner with personal magnetism in his oratory, the two have many points in common. The end is just discovering what manner of man is the Johnson who managed to carry a progressive state like California by 250,000 while the regular republican nominee for president lost the state altogether. Hiram Johnson's triumph in eastern sections will send his stock higher and higher. Here is an excerpt, for instance, taken from the writer's summary of Sept. 30, last on political observations made during the month of September when accompanying President Wilson on his western trip.

"Where Johnson stood. The people of the west are expecting the issue of the league to be decided clearly. A man who gives his reasons for refusing to see the United States join any league is much more likely to be listened to than a man who says he is for a league with qualifications or reservations that amount to a desire to reject the treaty and league which seems to hesitate to say directly. So if the peace treaty is defeated, it is Hiram Johnson who will get the credit or discredit. If he wins his fight, many republicans will regard him as the most likely figure for president on the republican ticket largely because of the vigor and force of his ability to swing the senate in his favor."

FORWARD, JANESVILLE!

To make Janesville a better place in which to live and in which to do business, the Gazette pledges itself to work for and support these things:

Housing survey to discourage exorbitant rentals, encouragement of building more houses; appraisal of property values so that rent profiteers may be made to pay the increased amount of taxes.

Open roads in the country 85 days of the year; better roads generally, and support of the road building plan; better streets and more paved streets in the city.

A market pavilion in the city which may also be used for many other purposes by farmers and livestock producers.

A community building to be used for auditorium, sport events, meetings, rest rooms, and also as a fitting memorial for soldiers.

Open the churches seven days a week and stop economic waste in room and time. Make basements meeting places for the young, and provide gymnasium facilities.

Build a real home for the girls who come here to work.

Open the fair grounds this year as a recreation park with tennis courts and other play apparatus. Establish parks and playgrounds.

Better the street car service as population increases.

This is a day of great moment in the annals of America. Fifty-five years ago, today, April 9, 1865, under the tree at Appomattox, Robert E. Lee, commander-in-chief of the Confederate armies, surrendered unconditionally to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant. In later years when Roscoe Conkling was nominating Grant for the presidency and there was question as to what state the general came from, he said:

If you ask me where he hails from
My sole reply shall be:
He comes from Appomattox
And her famous apple tree.

THE PEOPLE AND DAYLIGHT SAVING.

There is no serious argument against daylight saving as an abstract proposition. It is in the application that differences arise. In Wisconsin, at the election this week, several cities voted on the question. Madison overwhelmingly defeated it, so did Fond du Lac and Ashland vote it down with a smaller majority. Attempts to establish the plan in the east have met with the same difficulties recited in the Gazette yesterday—failure to coordinate with outside communities where the saving idea was not acceptable. Janesville, with a time differing from that of the railroads, the banks in other cities, hours of opening and closing the telegraph offices, hours of closing and arrival of the mails, would be in a constant confusion. Massachusetts—a whole state—finds this to be the case. New York has discovered that even so powerful a city as it is, cannot force the rest of the country to adopt daylight saving as a rule in law or practice.

Daylight saving without universal law of the nation, under federal enactment and only in vogue here and there, is bound to be a failure. It can be adopted as a rule in individual factories and stores. The city cannot well force its dictum on a people, and as far as it can go will be to fix the earlier hour for the city employees. Every factory and store can adopt it as an act for the plant and its employees just as the plant may fix the hours for beginning and quitting work with no reference to daylight saving whatever. That is a matter for the individual firm or corporation. The fact that most of the plants in Janesville have voted to adopt the saving plan is of importance. But it does not change the fact that all the outside relations of the city and all of its business will be conducted on standard time whenever those relations have to do with business beyond the city itself.

Daylight saving is the biggest economical movement that has been taken up by any people in a century and it should be the universal law. The energy spent on advocacy of it should be to impress congressmen that they should place it again on the federal statutes. That is the only way it will be successfully enforced.

WHEN LINCOLN WAS NOMINATED.

Sixty years ago in June, Abraham Lincoln was nominated for president of the United States, by the republican party, then in its infancy and making preparations for its second campaign. It was to the clangor of the politicians of the day. Thurlow Weed, and others who had stepped from the old Whig machine were attempting to boss the new republican party. They had the old organization to its hurt and early had gone to the Chicago convention with the decision to nominate William H. Seward, scholar, and pronounced anti-slavery. The name of Lincoln had not been mentioned. He was not some of his friends had thought it might be to secure his nomination as vice-president at Chicago.

Before the convention at Chicago, came the convention. In it was Gen. Dick Oglesby. He convention off its feet, stirred the patriotic state delegates, and when the convention Lincoln was nominated as the favorite son of the president from Illinois. He went into the with a gallery of admirers never equalled at it be the one in 1834 for Blaine, and the when Bryan took the convention by storm over of thorns and cross of gold speech. On the ballot Lincoln was nominated.

A sad and sulky lot of delegates that went to New York. If one consults the files of Harbinger, then edited by that staunch republican, William Curtis, he will find little to indicate the Lincoln grew to be in the next four years. But in the opposition of these eastern men at first Lincoln conducted himself in the campaign as to win, winning saved the Union from destruction. Lincoln was one of eight candidates voted for on the first ballot, but on the second he had almost passed the greatest rival in votes, and on the third, swamped the managers of Seward. Some of these events have their counterpart in recent years, but none have carried the tremendous portent of a future like the nomination of Lincoln.

Now if the 23 LaFollette delegates will just hand Bob their proxy written in ink, he can occupy the 23 seats and do all the voting as well as the thinking, saving sweat and personal expense.

Public opinion will win a strike and public opinion will lose one. Public opinion is not only strongly opposed to the switchmen's strike, but it is backed up by the powerful brotherhood of railway trainmen who have declared the strikers to be outlaws and deserving

MAY THE WORST MAN WIN.

Oh, we hear it in our play:
"May the best man win."
"May the best man win!"
"May the best man win!"
Yet some day I'd like to hear
From somebody standing near,
This brief sentence ringing clear:
"May the worst man win!"

All his life he's heard men shout:
"May the best man win!"
It has echoed him round about:
"May the best man win!"
Though with faith and courage grim
He starts out, hope soon grows dim,
No one ever prays for him:
"May the worst man win!"

We must hear it till we die:
"May the best man win!"
Poor unskilful you and I,
"May the best man win!"
We who lack the nerve to touch
And the need this prayer so much:
Oh, we need this prayer so much:
"May the worst man win!"

When we hear another shout:
"May the best man win!"
It's not us they think about:
"May the best man win!"
Is a prayer for strength and skill,
And life finds us failures still—
Yet this prayer might rouse our will:
"May the worst man win!"

When the game of life is done,
"May the best man win!"
When our souls have journeyed on,
But I also make this prayer,
That in Heaven where all is fair,
May we failures conquer there:
"May the best man win!"

of neither aid nor sympathy. When it comes to a show-down organized labor has some responsibility, and the evidence that it will exercise both its responsibility and power is seen in the attitude assumed toward the strike of the switchmen.

Just a few hours before the election of the LaFollette slate the LaCrosse Tribune printed an interesting editorial discussion of dandelion greens. Apropos of nothing but timely as we remember them, cooked with a smoked pig's foot or iselbin of smoked ham, the outstanding characteristic is the extreme bitterness of the mess. Perhaps that is why they appealed to the Tribune on Tuesday as a tonic for spring fever and the election.

When a man without an organization and not backed by an unlimited expense account is able to carry a vote such as Hoover received in Michigan, there is something back of the man worth more than passing notice.

Backward Glances

FORTY YEARS AGO

April 9, 1880.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Schjorner entertained about 200 people at Lappin's and the Apollo Halls last evening. The event was their 20th wedding anniversary. The refreshments were eaten in Lappin's Hall and the guests danced to the music of Anderson's full orchestra in the Apollo hall.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

April 9, 1890.—The case of the state versus Smith Wright, Magnolia, was brought up this morning in municipal court and the case adjourned until later in the month. The man is charged with selling liquor without a license.—James McQue of this city, while coupling some cars at Montrose, Ill., injured his arm so that it had to be amputated. He went to Chicago for the operation.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

April 9, 1900.—There were union services of the Y. M. C. A. in the Congregational church last night. A report was given of the past year's activities by President Loomis. He showed by figures the increase in the results accomplished this year and of the increase in membership and interest in the association. The Y. M. C. A. orchestra gave some selections.

TEN YEARS AGO

April 9, 1910.—The local Elks put on a show there last night at the Myers theatre. It was a comedy, "They Loved a Lassie," and was well played.—The annual athletic carnival was held in the gym of the high school last night and was a grand success. Relay and different kinds of races between the upper and lower classmen were featured.

Going Up in Safety

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Danger in elevator travel will be practically eliminated for this city, and an example set for other parts of the country, if a bill now in congress becomes a law.

We ride in elevators so freely and frequently that we seldom realize the hazards of the conveyance. Passenger elevators are far safer now than when they were first introduced, but still it is estimated that about 1,200 persons are killed or injured in them every year in this country. This may not seem an alarming number, but it should be taken into account that most elevator accidents are fatal or result in serious disabilities.

Eighty Percent Carelessness
At least 80 percent of the accidents are caused by people stepping into open shafts, or by the car starting before the passenger is safely in or out. This 80 percent of the accidents is unnecessary, elevator experts say, as devices are in the market which prevent a car from moving until both car and shaft doors are locked. Once the elevator starts on its trip the doors cannot be opened until it reaches a landing.

The safety devices are not altogether new, and Washington is not the first city to expect compulsory use of them. Heretofore many experts have held that to depend on mechanical or electric safety devices was to depend on the carelessness on the part of the operator. Efficiency in managing the car they believed to be the best precaution against accidents. In time the safety devices were improved, people continued to get killed in unprotected elevators, and the need grew up for more careful operators.

Had Vision of Perfection
W. J. Evans, chief inspector of elevators in Washington, is not one of those who for a long time had visions of the perfect elevator chauffeur. "Fatally," he says, "I have come to see that we can never get now, because no one can pay operators enough to insure it. Before the war, $50 a month was the average for operators. Now it is around $75. In big office buildings, of course, $100 or more is sometimes paid. But there is no chance for advancement, and men take up the work only because it is easy, or temporarily, while they fit themselves for something else. Operators are the worst kind of work in office buildings, as they can sometimes ingratiate themselves in some business man's favor, and be given a chance to leave the service."

Women, according to Mr. Evans, are more satisfactory operators than men, as they matter of fact, are more cautious. In the war days, women ran 70 percent of the elevators in Washington. Now this percentage is cut almost in half, not by lack of women willing to work, but because the men returned to their old jobs. Women like elevator work, Mr. Evans says, because it is less tedious and more interesting than domestic service. If there is any difference in the number of accidents, there are fewer with women operators.

The elevator safety bill is expected to be passed with little opposition. Such bills have failed before, but this year the memory of a tragedy that shocked Washington is still fresh in the minds of most congressmen. This accident occurred several months ago when a woman prominent in official society stumbled as she entered an apartment house elevator. She clutched at the operator and the car started up. The woman was crushed and died 10 minutes later. This sort of thing—a typical elevator accident—would be impossible in a car that could start only when the doors were closed.

Other Cities Have Bill
The pending bill is similar to ordinances in some other cities. The owner of an elevator must install some safety locking device (which will prevent the car from starting until approved by the elevator inspectors. If he fails to comply with the law by a certain date, he must pay a fine of $25 for each day the car is without the attachment.

Washington residences contain more automatic cars than Chicago, and the other city in the United States in proportion to population. There are certain sections where scarcely a home is without an elevator, some even having separate cars for servants. The automatic type of car, worked

PERSONETTE

F. SCOTT FITZGERALD.

The author of "This Side of Paradise" is a modest man. In spite of the fact that he has written a successful novel, at the tender age of 28, he is not a celebrity. His book was sold out almost before it was dry, and that one book sold a hundred copies of it in four hours. In spite of the fact that his book was sold out almost before it was dry, and that one book sold a hundred copies of it in four hours, he is not a celebrity.

Last spring when he got out of the army he came to New York to conquer it with his pen. It is his proud boast that in the four months from March to June he received 127 rejection slips from all of our best magazines. He claims to have the record in rapidity with which he collected rejection slips. He went out in the country and polished up his novel. It was a novel, by the way, which he had written in the office's training camp during the war. Those who were in officers' training camps will realize what a talented man he was for using spare moments very spare moments one might almost say. He then sent this virgin effort in novel-writing to a most distinguished publisher. The package was marked "Keep in a cold, dry place." It was accepted with alacrity and since then everything else he has written has been accepted. He has been called by editors who once scorned him. His name is already familiar to readers of the Saturday Evening Post and Kindred publications.

After evading the relentless interviewer for some time Mr. Fitzgerald announced in a burst of confidence that he hated exercise, loved assorted hors d'oeuvre, didn't care for literary people, that the hero of his novel was an idealized version of himself, and by the way, that the reason part of the book is written in play form is that he wrote it so fast he didn't have time to put in the "he-said's" and "she-said's."

He says his book is a novel about flappers for philosophers. It ought to be universally popular. Discussions of the flapper, her life and habits, are as intriguing as they are eternal. And Mr. Fitzgerald admits that he knows all about flappers.

He was announced to the now awed interviewer, with a fearless glint in his large grey eyes, "I am going to marry a flapper next Saturday."

A small snake, called by natives of Borneo, "the black death," is so deadly that death follows the bite by only a few seconds.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY K. MCQUILTON

The subject of stenographers is one which is always more or less interesting. The army of shorthand makers has come to play an important part in the business world. One business man's trouble in this connection are more or less thoroughly aired in the following want-ad snipped from the Detroit "Free Press":

"We have open a position for a first rate stenographer; who is really interested in work even though the work is dull; who can get there at 8 o'clock every morning; who might be called a secretary if we could afford such a luxury and who really thinks stenographers and office vapors should save postage."

ADAMIZATION.

I have always admired beautiful women. My wife has always admired intellectual women. We have both admired the same woman.

The most efficient method of obtaining publicity is to be elected president of China. We don't know who the president of China is, and if we could spell it we could not pronounce it, and if we did know who it is and if we could remember it more than 10 minutes.

SPRING GARDEN NOTES.

Cabbage should be planted in the plot next to the corned beef. To toll cutworms, sow all your beets in rows of three. In choosing a spade, be careful to ascertain if it is suitable for frying ham on.

Two useful books on gardening are "Westward Hoe!" and "Leaves of Grass." Tomatoes should not be planted loose. To keep your neighbor's hens out of your garden, there is a better plan than using a shotgun on them. Use it on your neighbor.

What has become of the eight or nine hundred celebs who have landed these shores during the past few months? The country seems to swallow and digest them as soon as they come. Let's see, who was that prize fighter who landed the other day? Oh, to be sure.

A Brooklyn man complained that he had been severely beaten by his wife nine times in one week. Probably she is one of those "well-known club women."

"Protzky has been shot so often that as soon as he sees any of the faithful comrades reach for the hip, he flinches immediately for the hospital without waiting for the bullet."

WHO EVER SAID AN ATTRACTIVE LEMONADE?
(From Hints to Housewives.)
"A few mint leaves in a glass of lemonade will make it much more attractive."

Villa captures and holds American prisoners until they tell him all the news. If he hears of a stenographer or a manure he will get an ear full.

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring to receive a copy of the Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered as soon as possible.

A man earns $6,000 a year; how much is his time worth per hour? H. S.

On the basis of an eight hour working day, six days a week, 50 weeks to the year (allowing for a two weeks vacation) his time will be worth $25.00 per hour.

Q.—Were Washington and Lincoln the only presidents whose birthdays came in the month of February? E. A.

A.—In addition to Washington and Lincoln, Pres. William H. Harrison was born in the month of February, his birthday having been Feb. 9, 1773.

Q.—What is the average height and weight of a boy? A.—The average height of a boy of 15 years is 62.3 inches. A boy of that height should weigh 107.1 pounds.

Q.—When was the first torpedo used? A. S. T.

A.—The torpedo was first used in 1866 by an Italian named General. It was used in destroying the bridge across the river Scheldt at Antwerp.

Q.—How much money did the Treasury department collect in the first installment of income and excess profit taxes due March 15? A. C.

A.—The final report has not been announced, but it is estimated that the March 15 installment of income and excess profit taxes will total $850,000,000 to $900,000,000.

Q.—When were sleeping cars first used? H. E.

A.—A sleeping car was put into service on the Cumberland Valley railroad (now a part of the Pennsylvania railroad system) in 1836 or 1837, but was abandoned for a few years. It was the plant, Job's Tears, grown? R. F.

A.—The seeds are sown in a warm place in February or March. The young plants are ready to be placed outdoors in May or June. They should be planted in good soil in a sunny location. After the flowers bloom you will notice attractive bluish-white seeds which are popularly used in making beads.

Q.—How many horses are there in the United States at present? M. K. B.

A.—The Bureau of Crop Estimates says that on Jan. 15, 1920, there were 21,709,000.

Q.—What country is called the "land of the morning calm"? B. Y.

A.—Korea is called the "land of the morning calm." It is a Pictou at the western end of Tibet is called the "roof of the world."

Q.—Does a foreigner become an American citizen by virtue of marrying an American girl? A. B.

A.—This would not entitle him to American citizenship. In fact, under present law, the woman would lose her American citizenship, taking that of her husband.

Q.—Who are the leading English golfers? F. D.

A.—Harry Vardon, George Duncan, Ted Ray and Abe Mitchell are generally rated as the leading English golfers.

Q.—For what service was the late President Theodore Roosevelt awarded the Nobel Peace prize? H. K.

A.—For the part he took in bringing about a cessation of hostilities in the Russo-Japanese war and the negotiation of the Portsmouth Peace treaty.

SERVICE

The investment house from which you purchase your securities should be large enough to offer you a well selected list of investments, purchased with its own funds before offering to investors.

In 2000 Counties This Month

The Forces of the Church of Christ Will Gather To Face the Facts.

In 2000 counties in the United States the pastors and laymen of 30 great denominations will meet in conference this month.

It is the kind of conference that generals hold before a critical engagement; that business men hold before entering a new market. A conference of judgment, not emotion; a clear-eyed facing of the facts.

A Survey that Business Men Must Admire

For more than a year hundreds of workers have been quietly engaged in making a scientific survey of the mission fields, and of America county by county.

The facts developed are startling. No such picture of America's religious situation has ever before been drawn.

On the basis of these surveys thirty Protestant denominations are uniting in a Nation Wide Cooperative Campaign

Each of the thirty denominations has its own "Forward Movement" organized and officered. The Interchurch World Movement is the clearing house for all of these.

It is the agency which the churches have created to avoid duplication, to foster cooperation and make sure that every man and dollar render the utmost service possible.

The month of April will be devoted to making the facts of the survey known to America; in the week of April 25th-May 2nd, will come a united simultaneous financial campaign.

Whether You Are Inside the Church or Out

To every man and every woman who loves his country, these 2000 county conferences are vitally important.

For the facts developed by this great survey show vividly what forces are at work in America—and what kind of a country this country is to be.

See that the pastor of your church is a delegate. Any pastor can tell you the conference place and date. Or write directly to the Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 23 years old and have been married four years. We lived happily for a while, and then my husband started to make excuses to go out alone. Soon I found that he was drinking. On several different occasions he promised to stop it, but he never kept his promises.

Now he nags me so that I can't stand it and he is cross to the baby. He spends money faster than he can make it and gets credit wherever they will give it to him. Even when he gets up in the morning he is cross and he grows until he goes to work. I left him and while I was away he couldn't earn enough for himself. When I went back he didn't have anything except some bills to pay. He is in debt all the time.

Please be so good as to help my baby and me. Should I leave him or not? I am a nervous wreck. If I don't do something I shall die. He tells me if I don't like it to go. BROKEN HEARTED.

When you are given your divorce you will probably be allotted alimony too. It is a question, however, whether you can collect it. I believe it is harmful to a child to be brought up in a home which is made as inhospitable as your husband makes yours. Your child will be happier away from his father.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is it wrong

TWO SMART STYLES WHICH SHOW THE BECOMINGNESS OF OFF-THE-FACE HATS

A hat to some people is any old kind of head covering with a brim to please the convention that demands the head be covered when one walks or shops or drives. To others a hat is the most important of the whole outfit, it is the really beautiful thing in the wardrobe. Then to some others the hat is a utility accessory which must combine beauty and usefulness. Those in the second and third class are the ones who do not cause a shudder with their headpieces. They are the women who know when to buy stiff brimmed hats and when to buy draped turbans. They know whether hats should wear large hats or small tight fitting shapes. And those are the women to envy.

Here are two of the off-the-face styles which are popular this season and which should never be worn by any save the fortunate women with youthful features.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY
BY J. H. MURPHY

Women are coming up gradually in the industrial world. They are slowly climbing a higher circle where only skilled men hold sway. They are becoming expert factory hands and more and more are holding down jobs for which formerly only men were thought to be fitted. This cheerful young miss is an efficient lithograph pressman in Portland, Oregon, with her flat-heeled shoes, overalls and rolled up shirt sleeves. She is all ready for a hard day's work. She runs a multifold color label press in a Portland factory and although she is only 24 years old she handles her big machine as expertly as old the man whose place she took. There may be another reason for her beaming smile for she receives "equal pay for equal work."

A WOMAN'S PLATFORM
Miss Anne Martin of Nevada will again be a candidate for the United States senate. She announced her intention recently and said she would accept the republican nomination if offered to her on the terms of her platform. These include:
Opposition to the treaty with Germany and the league of nations as a breeder of wars. Support of a league of peace of all nations.
Release of political prisoners and conscientious objectors.
Recognition of the right of labor to bargain collectively and to strike.
Reduction of the high cost of living and the increase of production and trade through public ownership and operation of the railroads, street car lines, etc., as a suitable camp site.

UNROMANTIC HYGIENE—1 Toilet of the Teeth

A popular tooth powder contains, according to the manufacturer, about 22 percent of alcohol, 21 percent of chalk, 25 percent of soap, 27 percent of glycerin, and dashes of this and that aromatic and a taste of antiseptics.

Brush soap is sufficient for me, Dr. Joseph Head, a recognized authority, remarks in his little volume, "Everyday Mouth Hygiene." "Tooth pastes and powders have not been accentuated (in this book), as ordinarily they contain precipitated chalk as a basis, and the chalk, when used in a tooth powder, is of any length of time, cuts the enamel, so that in the course of 20 or 30 years the enamel is worn away, leaving the tooth bone exposed to the saliva."

The little scrubbing of teeth I'd do in 20 years would never wear away the enamel. Life is too short to brush the teeth as often or as thoroughly as the good dentist avers is necessary. And as for the medicinal ingredients, tooth pastes and powders are simply a waste of money. Medicines separate from my soap. The soap alone is sufficiently antiseptic.

Dr. Head, condemning chalk for brushing the teeth, recommends for those who do not mind the taste of the salt sprinkled on the brush and brushed in between the teeth after the cleaning has been completed. Following this peroxide of hydrogen, which is a powerful antiseptic, the tooth gives out large quantities of free oxygen, and in the presence of acid secretions makes an alkaline period of hydrogen mixture that is highly pleasing and beneficial.

Merely brushing the teeth, no matter what dentifrice may be used, cannot be considered thorough cleansing. It is necessary to remove bacterial masses and particles of decaying dentifrice from the spaces between the teeth, and this may be accomplished by the use of a toothbrush. The toothbrush should be used in a way that will remove the particles of decay from the spaces between the teeth, and this may be accomplished by the use of a toothbrush.

My Cousin Cecil is to be with us for several weeks, before proceeding to California. I am glad for he is so entertaining. How the girls do stare at him wherever we go; it's positively indecent. And he is so different; I'd just love to get him up fussed up and crazy about me if I wasn't engaged. I fear he needs a jolt. Funny thing is that he thinks the same about me.

Played eighteen holes up at Van Courtland with Cecil this morning. It was great. He plays a nifty game and seemed surprised at my work on the course. Englishmen, I fear, are apt to forget that American girls are every bit as fond of outdoor sport as the English. I can see that there are innumerable ways in which I shall have to enlighten my misguided cousin before we part. Did I mention, by the way, that Cecil has the loveliest long and very black eyelashes?

While on the links we passed a merry foursome of girls, who just couldn't drive off the sixth hole for the course. Englishmen, I fear, are apt to forget that American girls are every bit as fond of outdoor sport as the English. I can see that there are innumerable ways in which I shall have to enlighten my misguided cousin before we part. Did I mention, by the way, that Cecil has the loveliest long and very black eyelashes?

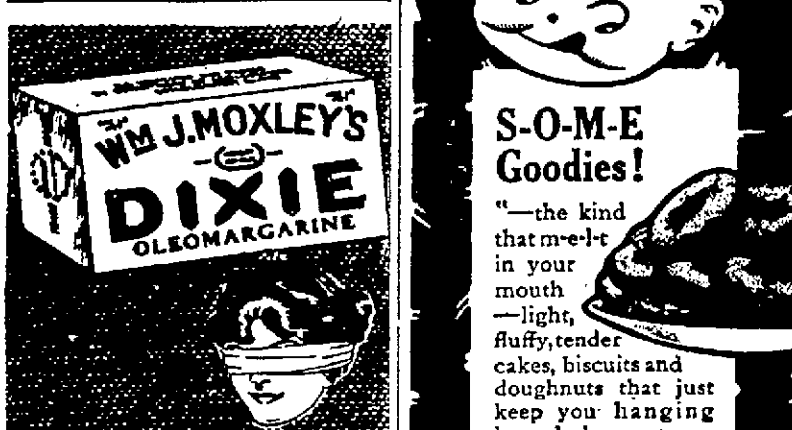

I feel sorry for those maidens, because I just knew that they had been fondly thinking that the handsome stranger was watching their every move breathlessly. They simply could not play golf, but what they lacked in proficiency they made up for with pink ribbons and sweaters. I was going to offer a plan to drop the church membership requirement for voting delegates and for substitution of a personal pledge.

TOURIST CAMP SITE IS LATEST RHINELANDER. Directors of the Rhineland-American Advancement Association are considering the proposition of arranging a camp site for tourists during the summer. Last year it was impossible to provide accommodations for all who visited the city and it is now proposed to equip some place near here with electric lights, water, etc., as a suitable camp site.

Pleasant Fields Of Holy Writ

Second Quarter: Lesson 11: Judges 1-16: April 11, 1920.

Golden Text: God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Psalm XLVI 1.

DEBORAH AND BARAK DELIVER ISRAEL

The invading hosts of Israel failed to uproot the thistles of idolatry in the land they entered. The last bitter root of Bolytheism ought to have been torn from the soil and cast out so that Canaan might become a garden of Thelism. But the people said we can never exterminate idolatry so let us license and tax it. Let us get some revenue from heathen altars. It was only a question of time when the Israelites were making alliances with the remnants of heathen populations which were allowed to remain. The heathen began to offer philosophically and eternally impossible, of serving God and Mammon. * * * It was an era in Israel like that of unhappy Russia today, when confusion and disorganization. Religion had lost its hold on the heart and conscience. The national spirit was so debilitated that the nation became an easy prey to its foes. The morale was still further weakened by the adoption of the vile and vicious religious customs which the Israelites had allowed to survive in the conquest of the country. And instead of cooperation among the tribes there was jealousy and even hostility. * * * The splendid, extroverted, persuasive and authoritative influence of Joshua did not reach these degenerate times. To this evil general the deliverance of Egypt and the Wilderness were as much of a legend as our Civil War is to the boy of today. * * * Many think the only hope for Russia is the rise of some man of destiny, some leader of phenomenal force who shall seize the reins and bring the run-away nation back on the road of orderly government. That without question was the cure of Israel's woes. So comes the Judges in whose person by common consent for the time being at least the government was vested. Othniel, Ehud, Shamgar, Deborah, Gideon, Tola, Jair, Jepthah and the rest make a splendid roster of which any nation might well be proud. * * * It is an historical paradox that one of the Judges should have been a woman. Deborah had vision. She saw what others failed to see, the impending doom of the nation, the failure of the Divine plan for the welfare of Israel. The range of her prophetic eye may have included the intended welfare of the human race through the agency of Israel and the failure of the Divine plan for the welfare of the world through the infidelity of Israel. Deborah was also a woman of piety. It grieved her soul that Jehovah was forgotten and his altars neglected. She was a woman of patriotism. She loved her country with a devotion immeasurable. But vision, piety, patriotism would all have been as futile as the tears shed on the stones of Jerusalem in the Jews' "wailing place" today if another thing had not been added. She was a woman of action. She planned the campaign, selected the commander, and finally went to the battle in person to give the moral support of her presence. * * * She projected her patriotic influence upon succeeding generations in her immortal poem, unrivaled in its vividness and picturesqueness. It brims with fire and passion. It is a lofty chant of joyous confidence in the God of battles. Experts in the field have affirmed that it has never been surpassed by any poetry whatsoever. The Teacher's Lantern.

Moses made a tabernacle that pleased God, and served the purpose of the people for worship, because he made it according to the pattern shown him in the mount. He would have made a perfect tabernacle of Canaan, if they had obeyed implicitly their Divine Commander. God's way is not merely the best way. It is the only way. * * * Christians of today can no more form a league with worldlings than the Israelites could with the Canaanites. Friendship with the world is enmity toward Christ. In its heart the world despises the truckling, compromising believer. * * * Truth is, there is an inviolable antagonism between the Christian religion and the world's life. The principles, maxims, and precepts of the one strike dead level against those of the other. It is a quarrel of reconciliation. No quarter can be given. It is a war of extermination. * * * Shakespeare is debilitated to the Bible when he speaks of our vices as the instruments to plague us. The Canaanites, tolerated by a sinful policy, became lacerating and poisonous thorns in the sides of the Israelites. Families were fairly torn asunder by intermarriage, and an interminable inter-tribe strife began. The idol images preserved, and the altars left standing in disobedience to the Divine command, became so many gins and pitfalls. * * * Man must worship. He is made that way. The intuitions of his nature prompt him and impel him. It is not a question of worshipping or not worshipping. It is only a question of what he will worship. Some men idolize their own infidelity. Choose ye, for worship you will. * * * The Book of Judges has been deprecated as bloody. The picture of a barbarian element playing its part in sacred history. But what shall be done with the book since its canonicity is indispensable? Drop it and you have lost a link of half a millennium into which Hebrew history is forged. Nothing else gives such an intimate insight into the life of Israel at this period. "Bloody" or not it is an invaluable human document. * * * Julia Ward Howe's "Battle Hymn of the Republic" is an aspect in American history what Deborah's song was for one in Hebrew's history. * * * The stars in the course fought against Sibera, reminds one of Napoleon's saying on his retreat from Russia, "God Almighty has been too much for me." The snowflakes of Russia match the rain drops of Canaan. Deborah was a leader of the conquerors. * * * On the lark background of national disaster how brightly shine the national deliverers. Washington, John of Arc was a modern Deborah. She had her vision, piety, patriotism, and put it all in valiant deeds to win her country. * * * Francis Willard's father taught her when she was a little girl the verse beginning "To serve the present age." The thought of possession of her until it became the motto of her life and made her the American Deborah. * * * When it comes to women like Deborah there is no "Woman's sphere." The Lord's Judges team in so-called secular history, as well as in sacred. Peter the Hermit, Giovanni of Arc, William of Orange, Gustavus Adolphus, Cromwell, Napoleon, Washington, and Lincoln—the Lord raised them up. Consciously or unconsciously they served the purpose. They were indispensable to the evolution of the plan of the God of Nations.

YOUNG PEOPLES' DEVOTIONAL SERVICE

April 11, 1920. Nehemiah XIII, 15-22. WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH OUR SUNDAYS?

Motto: He would this Sabbath should a figure be Of the best Sabbath of Eternity. —Du Bartas.

Sunday is a great gift of God to all people. It is a season of recuperation, of re-creation, a boon to body, mind and spirit. It is an insult to the God who gave it to make it grim instead of joyous, a weight instead of wings, a crime of the Pharisees was that they multiplied its restrictions until they destroyed its intention and use. Each must live the day as unto the Lord, using his gift without abusing it.

Daily Bible Readings.
April 5. Meditate on Sunday. Ps. 92.
April 6. Worship. Isa. 66: 23.
April 7. Serve. Mark 2: 27-28.
April 8. Rest. Exod. 20: 8-11.
April 9. Do personal evangelistic work. Acts 16: 13, 14.
April 10. Meet friends. John 20: 19-23.

To Think About.
What surroundings does our town provide for Sunday walks?
How can we make our churches places that attract people on Sundays?
Why do we need Sunday rest?

SOMEHOW THE PRESIDENT DID NOT LIKE THIS SOLDIER

At one of the meetings during the peace conference there happened to be a general, expert when President Wilson entered the room. A frown spread over his face.

"What is this soldier doing here?"

"Mr. President, he was summoned for consultation on a certain question of Egypt."

"I don't want any soldiers here."

Deep embarrassment. It seemed that the temperature had suddenly dropped ten degrees. A second time the phrase was uttered: "I don't want any soldiers here."

It was said in such an irritated tone that everybody present had but one idea—how to get out of such a trying situation. But old Clemenceau rose to the occasion. Pulling out his watch he exclaimed gravely: "Well, do you realize that it is already five o'clock? If we are going to have any time for a cup of tea—"

Perfect solution! Everybody got up, and the general slipped away without saying a word.

This anecdote is authentic, and it proves that President Wilson was sick. To carry anti-militarism to the point of not being able even to endure the sight of a uniform is evidence enough of a morbid condition, but to reveal such a feeling in a rude manner, especially when fulfilling a public function, is a sure sign of an unbalanced, if not diseased, mind.—La Democra tie Nouvelle, Paris.

ALBERT B. STEINER, of St. Paul, Minn., who declares he is now able to do twice the work he could before taking Tanlac, and that his sister has gained sixteen pounds.

"Talking about things that help people, I have just received a letter from my sister in Waterloo, Iowa, telling me she has gained sixteen pounds in weight by taking Tanlac," said A. B. Steiner, 480 East Page street, St. Paul, Minn., recently.

"My sister was on a visit to me a short while ago, and as she was suffering from stomach trouble some one advised her to try Tanlac, which she did, and as I saw the great benefit she was getting from it I decided to try it myself, for I had been troubled with my stomach for the past two years. I had a very poor appetite, and the little I did manage to eat seemed to lodge right in the pit of my stomach and sour. I would bloat terribly after eating and have the worst sort of cramping pains in my stomach, and at times I had such bad attacks of heartburn I could hardly go to sleep. My back gave me a lot of trouble, and I had such intense pains in the small of my back I could hardly bend over. To add to my other troubles, about two months ago I began to suffer with rheumatism in my shoulder blades and arms, which got so bad I could hardly do my work and could not even put on my coat without assistance. I was so nervous I could get but little sleep and would roll and toss from one side of the bed to the other all tired out. I was so badly run down and had lost so much weight I was so weak I could hardly get about at all."

"Well, while I have only taken five bottles of Tanlac in all my improvement is simply remarkable. I have such a good appetite I am hungry all the time, and my stomach is in such a splendid condition I can eat anything I want without suffering the least bit from it afterward. The pains have all gone out of my back and I never have the least sign of the rheumatism. In fact, I never have an ache or pain of any kind. I sleep as sound as a log every night and have gained in weight and strength until I can do twice as much work as I could before I began taking Tanlac. Yes, sir, I can recommend Tanlac after what it has done for me, and I know it will do the same for others if they will only give it a fair trial."

Tanlac is sold in Janesville by McQuinn & Buss and the leading druggists in every town. Advertisement.

CHAPLIN FIGHTS WIFE'S MANAGER AT PRINCE'S DANCE

Los Angeles, Cal., April 9.—The Alexandria light between Charlie Chaplin and Louis Mayer, manager of Mildred Chaplin, wife of the comedian, from whom he is separated Wednesday.

Over Wife's "Settlement." While the fight was in progress Mildred Chaplin was dancing at the reception for the prince of Wales at San Diego. Mr. Mayer declared the fight was caused by an effort on the part of Mr. Chaplin to settle his wife's difficulties for what she appeared to have regarded as inadequate consideration.

Mr. Mayer was one of a party of 12 at Anita Stewart's table in the main dining room of the hotel and Mr. Chaplin was with a smaller party at another table. A note was delivered to Mr. Chaplin and he left. Shortly afterward Mr. Mayer also went out.

Asked to "Take Off Glasses." A moment later the two met and started toward the Fifth street entrance to the lobby side by side. As they passed the desk one of the clerks heard Chaplin say, "Take off your glasses," and repeat it. Mayer did so, and then, according to bystanders, Chaplin hit him in the face. Mayer replied in kind and Chaplin went down.

COUNTY NURSE IS GIVEN AUTOMOBILE BY R. C. Uncle Sam's a School-Ma'am Did you know that Uncle Sam was teaching school? Well, he is. Teaching the army, too. Uncle Sam's army school has been nicknamed "The University in Khaki." The school teaches like some things you learn in the common schools, however, though it is named a university. The school is for two kinds of men: those who for some reason or other have never had any education, and those who have had some education but want to learn a trade or occupation.

LOOTING OF TRAINS PREVAILS IN AUSTRIA

Vienna.—Looting of freight trains particularly of foodstuffs and wearing apparel goes on unchecked throughout Austria. Unless convoyed, a shipment stands little chance of coming through intact. The robbers seem well organized and armed and often so numerous as to resist arrest.

Gift cargoes from other European states seem the favorite plunder and, according to report, much of the stolen goods has been found for sale in the open market.

A large consignment of this character from Sweden arrived this week and when the well arranged food parcels, containing flour, fats and other staples, were opened it was found that a portion of the fat and flour had been skillfully removed from each package and a sack of Austrian salt substituted to make up the requisite weight.

RED CROSS SENDS QUESTIONNAIRES TO ALL WAR VETERANS

A complete list of all discharged soldiers, sailors and marines now living in Rock county is the goal aimed for by the county chapter of the Red Cross which is this week sending out questionnaires to ex-service men throughout the county. Questionnaires are being sent by the Beloit and Janesville branches to all ex-service men whose postoffice addresses are available. Through sending the blanks out from two stations it is hoped to reach every man who enlisted from Rock county.

In many instances the chapter has been unable to locate men so blanks have not been mailed to them. Any man who does not receive his questionnaire is asked to visit the Red Cross office in the postoffice building here.

It is the desire of the chapter to assist not alone men who enlisted from Rock county, but all ex-service men located in the county either temporarily or permanently. The wish of the Red Cross is to be of assistance to a man in applying for compensation, vocational training, reinstatement of war risk insurance, or in any claim he may have against the government.

The Red Cross will appreciate promptness in filling out and returning blanks. In this way a fairly complete roster of Rock county ex-service men will be obtained.

Question 9 on the blank should read: "Have you received 25 percent increase of base pay for foreign service since July 11, 1919?"

WOMEN LAY PLANS FOR BANQUET, MAY 20

Extensive plans for the annual banquet of the City Federation of Women which will be held this year in the Y. M. C. A. building May 20, were made at a meeting of the board held yesterday at Janesville Center. Special stress is to be laid this year on the idea of inviting women who are newcomers to attend the banquet and also the getting together of all women who are interested in civic matters that they may become better acquainted with the plans of this organization.

The speaker will be Mrs. May Rosenberry, wife of Judge Marvin B. Rosenberry. She will talk along the line of municipal housekeeping.

Luncheon will be served at one o'clock. Tickets will be in charge of Mrs. P. Capelle. The committee in charge of the event is Mrs. E. P. Wilcox, Mrs. S. M. Smith and Mrs. M. O. Moul.

The work of the civic committee was reported yesterday by Mrs. E. P. Faust in plans for a clean-up campaign in connection with the Chamber of Commerce; also a circular letter to be sent to all clubs urging food sanitation and inspection.

On the question of garbage disposal taken up by the federation it was voted to go on record favoring the collection of garbage by the city, and using paid for in taxes.

Work of putting up the penny packages of seed for the school children is to be begun at once by a committee headed by Miss Agnes Weber.

Reports were read by the secretary, Mrs. L. Amerpohl, treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Peterson and room committee, Miss Isabel Greenman. The latter told that Janesville Center was used nine times in the evening in March by groups of women and girls.

Good Clothes— or Nothing

THAT'S our policy. If we can't get good clothes for you; clothes worth the money—we won't sell anything. Right now when merchandise is so hard to get, many merchants are tempted to load up with poor stuff—there's no trouble in getting that.

We won't do it. If you come in here to buy clothes and we haven't good ones in your size, we'd rather see you go out without buying than to give you poor quality that would not render good service.

Copyright 1919, Hart Schaffner & Marx

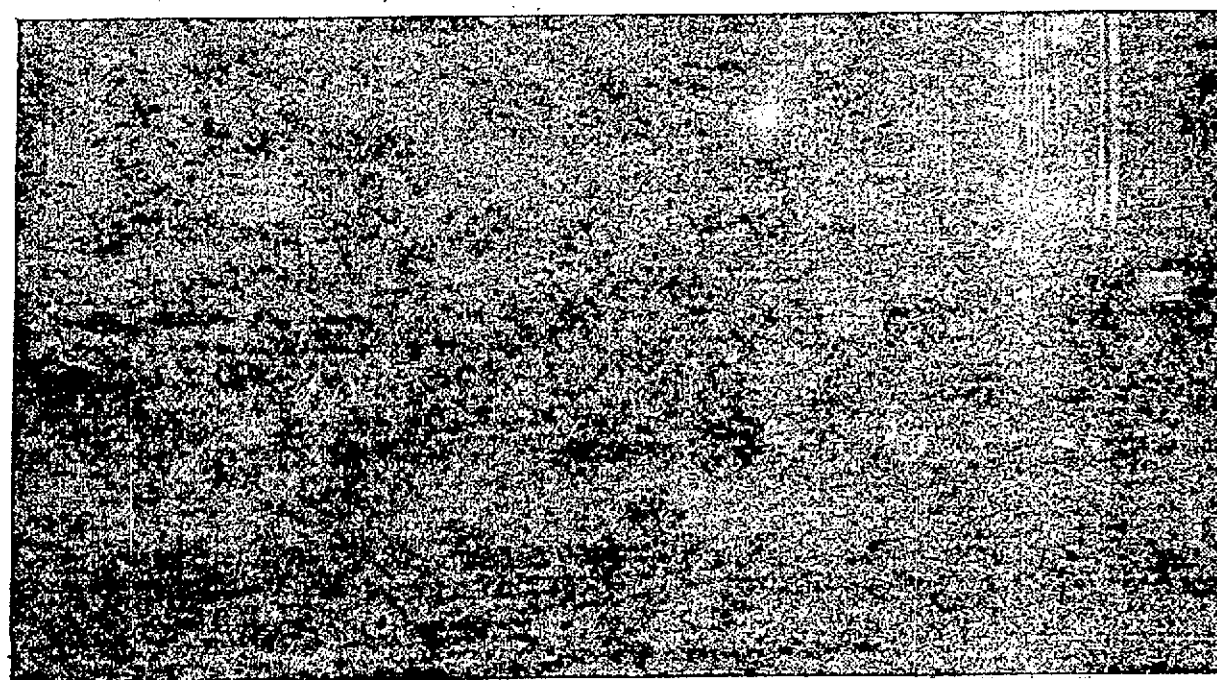

New shipments of fine all-wool clothes are coming to us every day from Hart Schaffner & Marx. They're the kind of clothes you ought to have. If we haven't your size today, we'll have it a little later—such quality is worth waiting for.

SUN ADVOCATES PLAN FINISH FIGHT

Committee Reports City Bowling Tournament Is Assured Of Instant Success.

Will Circulate Petition for Daylight Saving to Be Presented to Council.

It was a case of give and take at the city hall last night when proponents and opponents of the daylight saving idea had their innings at the meeting called to feel out sentiment as to its adoption for Janesville industrial and commercial firms. There were knocks and boasts, a banging and a kicking, a tossing up and a slamming down, and a general slambang of the innovation, but after all the fuss, the city devotees won out, 94 to 15. Petitions will be circulated throughout the city and the idea, for the second time, will be taken to the city council for action.

The meeting was arranged as the result of action on part of the Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce. George S. Parker presided as chairman.

Farmers Hot Against It. Arrayed against each other were the farm and city elements, the latter divided into divisions which well represented the employer, the shopman, the office man and the "counter jumper," as one man described his fellow working clerks.

What the rural delegation lacked in numbers it made up in vim and vigor and good arguments. Their attack was directed by County Agent T. T. Glasco. Ably assisting him and causing no end of trouble to those who favored the plan was George W. Yahn, the butcher. Mr. Yahn was opposed. He was opposed heart, body and soul and he hurled words to let it be known.

No Rest for the Farmer.

Alva Maxfield scored heavily for the rural population. He spoke of the utter impossibility of the farmer being able to do his work better during the early morning hours—when the dew is on the crops; refuted the statement that the ruralite has a periodical lounging session throughout the winter since this is primarily a dairy farming district; showed the disadvantages of turning the clocks ahead from the farm and labor standpoint and wound up with a declaration that taking it all in all the idea should be abandoned for the welfare of all concerned.

The general arguments of the city people centered around the laboring people and the advantages in health, efficiency and recreation.

Uniformity Argument Advanced. The question of uniformity proved to be really the only sound argument against the matter, but it was announced and constantly reiterated by the firm representatives present that their organizations would not adopt the plan unless it was general throughout the city.

J. W. Van Bynum, manager of the Frank D. Kimball furniture store and undertaking parlors, styling himself as a "counter jumper" and pleading for his like for an extra hour of sunlight during the summer, brought both factions into a round of applause with a suggestion that the city man, having once demonstrated his readiness to assist the farmer during harvest when labor was at a premium, promise to do so again this year should the farm help question continue as at the present.

Everybody was willing. The Janesville Clothing company was the only local firm to line up against the plan.

Scores Favor It. Fred Bellhartz, of the P. Hohenadel Jr. Canning company, reported his workmen 100 percent solid for the extra hour. Sidney C. Bostwick of J. M. Bostwick and Sons, said help at his store was almost unanimously favorable to the plan. J. L. Wilcox, of the Lewis Knitting company, believed that 75 percent of his help wanted the earlier work hours, as did the Hanson Furniture Co. representatives, Andrew Gibbons and Fred Grunke. The Rock County Sugar Co. employees, W. B. Davis announced, were sold for the idea. Roy Wisner of the Janesville Products company, believed their employees favoring the plan were in the large majority. The Hough Shade corporation employees were about equally divided on the matter, according to Dr. P. B. Farnsworth. Charles A. Muzzleton, vice-president of the Rock River Cotton company, said he believed the majority in his plant were against it, but that the company's course would be to follow the lead of others. A. A. Finch, vice-president and general manager of the Rock River Machine company, said his men favored the idea. George King of the People's Drug company, spoke in favor of the plan.

Samsonites Want It. The Samsonite sections were enthusiastic for the change, according to W. H. Chaffee, A. D. King and Victor E. Hemming. The latter appeared in behalf of the men and women of the Samson Engineering company where, in both office and shop, a canvas found not a dissenting vote against going to work an hour earlier and quitting likewise.

H. P. Note, piano man, was for leaving the present conditions reign. Horace Blackman, formerly of Detroit, told how the center of the automobile industry of the work, five years back inaugurated the idea. Confusion existed for a period of about two weeks, the speaker explained, but after that there was practically no trouble.

J. M. Dorrans, head of the vocational school, favored the plan from the viewpoint of an educator and an adviser of the men and women of

News Notes From Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

You'd be cranky, too, Miss Daw, if you were in a hurry to get to the wedding of two of your best friends and a "pesky fiver" billed. Marjorie, you know, had the great honor of being bridesmaid for Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford when the two were married recently in Los Angeles.

A few hours previous to the ceremony Miss Marjorie was in the Marshall Nellan studio making the final scenes for her next photoplay, which is oddly enough called "Don't Ever Marry." In this film she plays the part of a newly married young lady who finds matrimony a rough sea to travel and after ending the last scene with words of admonition against marrying she hurried out to the river expecting to make a flying trip home to change into her bridesmaid gown and rush to help Doug and Mary do that very thing.

The fiver belongs to Master Wesley Barry and the boy owner was not to be found, so Marjorie decided to try her hand in running it. The photograph makes one fear that the waiting bride and groom will have an irate bridesmaid or perhaps none at all, but Marjorie's sunny disposition seems to have overcome even the crank on the fiver, for all reports say that "the bridesmaid, Miss Marjorie Daw, a well known motion picture actress, was crowned in pink georgette crepe."

Marjorie has played with both Doug and Mary in pictures. She has been leading woman for Fairbanks and played in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" with Mary.

GOSSET. Edith Hallor is starred in a screen version of the stage play, "The Blue Pearl."

Marguerite Turner is to appear in the slapstick comedy, "Szenographers First."

They will have to assist them William Phinney. Already the youngsters of the upper Broadway district are excited over the advent of their screen favorites in the "speakeasies."

EDITOR AND CANDIDATE FOR COUNCIL HAVE FIST FIGHT. Eau Claire.—A. T. Ladue, socialist candidate for councilman and Otis Lund, editor of the Eau Claire Telegram, mixed up in a fist battle in the newspaper office here, as the result of an election controversy. Ladue emerged with a bloody mouth and Lund is carrying a black eye as a result of the argument.

PARENTS MEET WITH TEACHERS NEXT WEEK

Plans for starting a parent-teacher organization which has been long contemplated have resulted in the date of a meeting being set for 7:15 o'clock Tuesday evening in library hall. Mrs. Edith Hoyt, chairman of child welfare work in the state, will be present and give an address, together with Miss Martha Riley, Madison.

Meetings will be held in some of the schools Tuesday and Wednesday after school hours, that they may have an opportunity of meeting mothers of the children. Meetings will be held Tuesday in the Douglas and Jackson schools, and on Wednesday afternoon in the Grant and Jefferson buildings.

The general public, both men and women, is invited to attend the meeting in library hall Tuesday evening.
